

The Japan-America Society of Washington DC presents

A Japanese View of America's Financial Crisis with Mr. Shijuro Ogata

Tuesday, October 14, 2008 from 4:00 p.m.
East-West Center Conference Room – 2nd Floor, 1819 L Street, NW

America is facing its worst financial crisis since the Great Depression. What are the implications for Japan and the world? How are Japanese businesses and financial institutions responding? As American corporations and banks look for capital, are we about to see, as some people suggest, a new wave of Japanese investment in the United States? What lessons does Japan's past financial crisis hold for America this time?

Join us for a special program with one of Japan's most experienced and wisest financial experts, Shijuro Ogata. Mr Ogata is a former Deputy Governor for International Relations at the Bank of Japan and also past Deputy Governor of the Japan Development Bank. He has also been the deputy Japanese (now Pacific Asia) chairman of The Trilateral Commission since 1993.

The program will be held in the East-West Center Conference Room, 2nd Floor, 1819 L Street, NW, Washington, DC. Pre-registration is required due to limited space. The registration is FREE for JASW members and $10 for Non-JASW members.

Payments MUST be made in advance to JASW by the registration deadline of Tuesday, October 14 at noon.
*You can register on-line (www.us-japan.org/dc), e-mail, telephone or by mail.
There is limited seating.*
